DETAILED ACTION

1. Previously mailed Non-Final Office Action (October 05, 2006) has been withdrawn. A New Non-Final Office Action follows.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

2. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 27, 2006 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

3. Newly submitted claims 238-243 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The originally claimed inventions and the newly submitted claims are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed. The combination does not require the specifics of an acquisition section and a mutual authentication section for patentability.

The examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions. Where applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 238-243 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Specification

4. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

5. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the citation of specific claims throughout the description of the disclosure has to be removed.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 233, 236, 237, 244 and 245 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nishioka et al. (5,995,626).

Nishioka et al. discloses an electronic commerce system having a mobile user terminal (10), a service providing system (30), and an examination terminal (40), the mobile user terminal generates a request for an electronic value card information to transmit the request to the service providing system (col. 9, lines 16-30); the service providing system, in response to the request, generates the electronic value card information having secret key data, the secret key data differing for each type of the electronic value card information and to be used in a mutual authentication process executed between the mobile user terminal and the examination terminal, and issues the electronic value card information to the mobile user terminal (col. 13, lines 48-65); and the mobile user terminal receives the electronic value card information issued by the service providing system to hold the electronic value card information, and executes the mutual authentication process with the examination terminal using the secret key data of the electronic value card information when the examination terminal examines a validity of the electronic value card information held by the mobile user terminal (col. 5, lines 16-32). The examination terminal receives the information transmitted by the service providing system to hold the information, and executes the mutual authentication process with the mobile user terminal using the secret key data of the information when the examination terminal examines the validity of the electronic value card information held by the mobile user terminal (col. 14, lines 35-45).

Art Unit: 3627

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 233, 236, 237, 244 and 245 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Harris et al. (6,331,972) discloses a concept for personalizing an electronic device. EP 0 917 120 A2 discloses virtual wallet system with authentication mechanism.
